MedQuist offers you a better solution

These days, the transcription process represents one of the most frustrating and time-consuming issues for any healthcare organization. Recruiting, training and retaining qualified transcriptionists directly impacts your reimbursement cycle. In addition, personnel costs and document demands are constantly increasing – leaving you with a need for a better transcription solution.

That solution is Transcription Outsourcing from MedQuist. As the nation's largest transcriptionist pool with over 8,500 U.S.-based medical transcriptionists, you can be sure your valuable documents stay close to home. And best-in-class Web technology provides a single source for dictation and transcription management.

No matter how big or small your transcription requirements may be, you can count on the experts at MedQuist to efficiently handle all of your documentation needs from beginning to end. Best of all, our scalable service options are guaranteed to provide you with low-cost, tailored services that meet your individual needs. Whether you need 100 percent outsourcing, supplemental services or full-scale technology implementation, you can count on MedQuist to save you time, money and headaches.
